Spring Summer 07

For spring Summer 07, Mine designer Katherine Pont has delved into her own day dreaming to pull out her latest fanciful collection entitled "Wa Wa Wonder". Something of a dreamer herself, Katherine's hand drawn illustrations-embroidered and printed onto garments-are inspired by the whimsical meanderings of that most famous of all fairytale dreamers-Alice.

The Wonderland dweller meets White Rabbit amid rows of elaborate lacework, or transforms into the Queen of Hearts within the pleat of a tea party dress. Smock shaped shirts and dresses, tops and trousers, cropped, buttoned, layered and loved, the silhouettes are all inter-wearable creating a look that is playful yet sophisticated.

The feminine and whimsical qualities inherent to the Mine aesthetic are complimented by a strong monochromatic colour scheme, and the introduction of seersucker stripe and gingham fabrics create a tomboyish quality for those in a strop about donning a frock.
